"The greatest challenge to the human soul is the challenge of poverty," said Dr. W. H. Black in his bacealaureate address to the members of the graduating class of the State Teachers College last night. "The tax collector of old who gave his wealth to the poor experienced the most marvelous transformation that could take place in a man's life."

Dr. Black has been president of Missouri Valley College at Marshall for thirty four years. He is a member of the State Constitutional Convention. He is widely known as a lecturer, traveler and educator.

The baccalaureate services were held in the Christian Church. A large audience was present.

"How wonderful it is," Dr. Black continued, "that after this tax collector had seen the face and heard the voice of the Spirit, a new vision came over him. He determined to be a different type of man from then on."

The speaker then described the tax collectors of old. He told how with guns strapped to their backs they would ride to the fields of the natives and seize a large portion of the grain. As a result, a bitter hatred between the farmers and tax collectors developed.

Dr. Black based his sermon last night on the transformation of the greedy tax collector to a liberal and God-serving man.

"Back of all this transformation is the spirit of the One who had come to save the lost. Suddenly this man changed his mind. That shows a wonderful mastery in the spirit of man. To be self-masterful is a wonderful power, indeed.

"There was a seeking going on also. It was not the seeking by the tax collector but the seeking by God. The greatest quest in the world is God's quest for men and women. This is the greatest thing about Christianity.

"Jesus was the humanization of God. The touch of human sympathy was possible to Him who has had the human touch. He could see, feel and hear of human weaknesses. That is the chief reason why even a selfish tax collector could be transformed into one who would give half his wealth to the poor.'

The following program was given at the baccalaureate services:

CURL DISMISSES INDICTMENT CASES

RESULTED FROM THE MORGAN SCHOOL DISTRICT ELECTION

EVIDENCE WAS LACKING

John A. Gex, Roy Yeaman, Anna Bleich, Reid Brickey, Rex Deacon and Cy Wilfong Were Defendants

Dr. O. L. Curl, prosecuting attorney, in circuit court this morning dismissed the cases against Roy Yeaman, Anna Bleich, Reid Brickey, Rex Deacon and Cy Wilfong on charges for illegal voting and against John A. Gex on two counts or charges for procuring illegal votes.

These defendants were indicted by the grand jury in session last fall and the charges resulted from an election held in the Morgan school district in April, 1922, in which one of the hottest contested school elections ever held in the county took place. Dr. Curl in a statement to the court in dismissing these cases spoke of the rivalry in the school district and of the two factions, each trying to get control of the affairs of the school. He stated the law was violated by the one side probably as much as by the other faction.

"I have talked with parties disinterested," Dr. Curl said, "and it seems to me that it is far better to dismiss these cases and to try to get the two factions together. There is not sufficient evidence, anyway, with probability to get a conviction."

At the time of the calling of these cases in court, there were about twenty-five people from the Morgan district in court. Charles Talbott of the Morgan district, who testified before the grand jury last October, was also present in court. Mr. Talbott was not very much pleased with the dismissal of these cases by Dr. Curl.

The trouble in the Morgan district came about it was said, with the remodeling of the school building. At the election held in 1922, Will Gex and Frank Shamberger were elected as directors of the board, winning by ten votes. At that election it was said there were some illegal voting done by both sides. A deputy sheriff attended this election at the request of the leader of one faction, and there were several times during the election when it looked like there would be a fight.

Washington, June 4—Chief Justice Taft of the United States Supreme Court announced a recess today from June 11 until October 1. Decisions will be handed down next Monday.

SWIMMING POOL READY TO OPEN

WILL BE AMONG BEST IN MIDDLE WEST

TO OPEN TOMORROW

First Week For Ticket Holders Only Matron and Life Saver Named—Sanitation a Feature

Maryville's newest playground, the $12,000 natatorium, constructed and managed by G. W. Aley and Sons at First and Vine streets, will be ready for the first plunge in the morning. A large force of men are at work at the pool today putting on the finishing touches. When completed it will be one of the best, most sanitary and largest pools in this section of the country.

Sanitation Stressed

Particular attention has been given to the sanitary feature of the pool. Constant circulation and purification of the water has been obtained by a large electrically operated hydralic pump. The water is pumped through a 10-foot hole through the filter and back into the pool. There is a 3-inch overflow pipe and a 2-inch intake pipe giving a 5-inch stream of continuous water.

A vacuum cleaner will be used to sweep the bottom and to pick up all the sediment and particles. The management is exercising the greatest care in insuring the best health conditions there. Nobody with any skin or other disease will be permitted to enter the water. Everyone entering will be required to register his name the first time and the doctors are co-operating with the management to prevent any persons of questionable health from entering the pool.

The pool is up-to-date and modern in every respect. "We feel that we have built something that will be a credit to Maryville," said Henderson Aley this morning. "And we believe the people will agree with us when they view the new pool as to looks, workmanship and sanitation." Probably two hundred or more persons were down looking at the new structure yesterday and all were highly pleased with the way in which it had been constructed.

A Guard and Matron

Ed Kendall, an experienced swimmer will be the official life saver and guard, and will be commissioned for police duties. Kendall has had sixteen years experience in the army and a greater part of that time taught swimming. For two years he was a life saver at the Great Lakes.

Miss Lennie Calkins of Kansas City will be here to act as matron to assist women and children in dressing and to see that proper conduct and care of girls and children are maintained. With these two experimenced persons in charge, safety and proper management will be assured at all times.

The Pool Proper

The pool proper is 90 by 95 feet, and as large as any in the state. It starts down gradually and runs to a depth of ten feet in the deepest place. All depths are marked and one side is especially constructed for children. Two 32-foot slides and one 16-foot slide for children have been erected, and there is a 12-foot dive and a 7-foot springing board over the deepest end. A cement walk surrounds the pool and a specially constructed "beach" of sand, with several rustic chairs and benches, are on the outside of the walk.

The pool is amply lighted and gives a pretty effect at night. There are two large dressing rooms on the east and west, each equipped with shower baths.

The pool will be open this week for holders of advance tickets only and to members of the College swimming classes. Next week it will be open to the general public. The admission will be ten cents entrance, ten cents into the pool, and ten cents for a locker is one wishes to dress there.

4 GENERATIONS AT BIRTHDAY DINNER

MRS. MARIA BOWMAN, BURLINGTON JUNCT., 92 YEARS OLD.

HERE BEFORE CIVIL WAR

Came to Nodaway County With Father in 1852—Many Gathered Yesterday for Basket Dinner.

Four generations were present at the home of Mrs. Maria Bowman at Burlington Junction yesterday to celebrate with a basket dinner in honor of the 92nd birthday of Mrs. Bowman. For the past forty years without missing a birthday, this occasion has been similarly celebrated at Mrs. Bowman's home. At the dinner yesterday were Mrs. Bowman's two children, five grandchildren and eight grandchildren in addition to about twenty-five other relatives.

Mrs. Bowman came to Nodaway County in 1852 with her father, Abram Hagey from Harrison County, Ohio. Mr. Hagey bought a claim of 160 acres for $15 and then entered a claim of 360 acres of his own. In moving they were seven days coming from St. Joseph to Quitman and landed in Quitman May 18, 1852. Mrs. Bowman says that at that time there were many buffalo, deer, wolves, wild turkeys and some wild hogs in this country.

They had to go to St. Joseph twice a year for provisions, says Mrs. Bowman, which consisted mostly of flour, sugar and coffee. Mrs. Bowman was one of five children and her youngest brother, John, who is now 80, was at the dinner yesterday. In 1855 Mrs. Bowman married John Bowman and located a half mile north of Quitman where her husband died in 1865 the first year of the Civil War.

Although near the century mark, Mrs. Bowman retains a marvelous mental vigor and is still able to walk around. She says that she has cut grain with a sickle and cradled and mowed, loaded and stacked hay and grain, plowed, planted and sowed, and even worked on the roads.

The dinner was held yesterday in the grove in her yard. Long tables under the trees were heavily laden with eatables of every kind and in most generous quantities. Relatives there yesterday with their children, declared the custom of celebrating Mrs. Bowman's birthday dated back farther than they could remember. For almost the same length of time a similar gathering has been held each year at Thanksgiving time.

Those who were present yesterday were:

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Suttle, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Ballenger, Mr. and Mrs. C E Ballenger, Mr and Mrs. Fred S. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Suttle, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Suttle, Mr. and Mrs. James Hagey, John Hagey, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Cook, Mr and Mrs. Floyd Barrett, Mrs Barbia Bowman, Mrs. Mary Browning, Miss Nina Bowman, Miss Lula McKnight, Mildred and Edward Ballenger, Paul and Dortha Miller, Edwin and Robert Suttle, Eleanor and Jimmie Barrett.

The relatives who were unable to come were: Mrs. H. W. Thomason, Opelia, Ala., Mrs. Emmett Stafford, Tarkio, Mo., Mrs. Ralph Folden, Quitman, Mo., Mrs. Frank Bleeche, Paisley, Fla., Mrs. Rye Patten and Mrs. Henry Bowman, Broken Bow, Neb., and Will Bowman, Idaho.

32 Wedding Guests Poisoned at Dinner

New York, June 4—Thirty-two wedding guests, including a bride and groom, were poisoned early today while partaking of a wedding banquet. Conrad Kissel and his pretty 22-year old bride, who was Miss Mary O'Connel, and six other guests were taken to the hospital. Four others were taken to their homes and twenty-one others so that medical attention was not necessary. Members of the party collapsed as the wedding cake was about to be cut.

The blame was placed upon the chicken salad.

NUTRITION WORK IS TO BE POSTPONED

WILL BE STARTED BY RED CROSS FIRST OF SEPTEMBER.

COLLEGE WILL COOPERATE

Some Classes Will Be Held There and Regular Credit Given for Work.

The nutrition work which had been scheduled by the American Red Cross for Nodaway County this summer has been definitely postponed until the first of September.

At that time a nutrition expert, one of a staff of fifteen employed by the Southwestern Division of the American Red Cross, will be sent here. Her work will be carried on in co-operation with the County Public Health Service, the State Teachers College and the public schools.

Dr. Fryer, county health officer, has for a long time been feeling the need of a nutrition expert in this territory. This American Red Cross worker will assist him in the school inspections and examinations, instructing the mothers in cases of malnutrition as to the proper diet needed. President Lamkin is planning to have her hold classes at the Teachers College for which college credit will be given. This is particularly fortunate, since these students, as potential teachers, will be able to carry the work on through the county. Mr Ziegler has offered the use of the domestic science laboratories at the high school for nutrition demonstrations

In addition to her work with the public health service and the College and high school, the nutrition specialist will organize classes among the mothers and others interested in the question of diet in Maryville and the various towns of the county. Instruction in these classes will include the balancing of rations, diet proper for children of pre-school age, of school age, for adults whether of sedentary or active occupations, and for the aged. A Chapter Nutrition Committee has been organized in Maryville, and branch committees are in the process of organization in the various towns of the county, which committees will assist the Red Cross worker in the planning and carrying out of her schedule in Nodaway County The personnel of the chapter nutrition committe is as follows: Mrs. L. M. Eck, chairman; Mrs. J. F. Hull, Miss Helen Todd, Miss Hettie Anthony, Miss Elizabeth Leet, Mrs. F. S. King, Mrs. R. L. McDougal, Mrs. Joseph Jackson, Mrs. C. T. Bell, Mrs. Earl Braniger, Mrs. W. N. Deatherage.

Chinese Mob Attacks Japanese Bluejackets

Peking, June 4—The Chinese government may be faced with another international complication as a result of an attack on Japanese guards at port Chan-Sha by a mob. The Japanese guards, it was reported, fired upon the mob in self-defense when hard pressed. Chang has long been a seat of anti-foreign feeling and the attack on the Japanese bluejackets is belived here to be the result of the anti-foreign feeling and boycott move against the Japanese.

N. Y. WET BILL COSTLY TO U. S.

BURDEN OF ENFORCEMENT NOW ON FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

NEED 25 MILLION

Instead of 9 Million Appropriated This Year—At the Best Prohibition Will be Har dto Enforce.

Washington, June 4.—The repeal of the New York state enforcement law for prohibition with the possibility existing that a few other states may follow the New York example, is going to prove a costly thing to the federal government, it was admitted today by officials who have made a close study of the enforcement situation since Governor Smith signed the repealer.

Instead of appropriations of 9 million dollars for the present year to enforce prohibition, it was estimated today that at least 25 millin dollars would be necessary for next year. Prohibition officials are making preliminary estimates upon that basis.

The additional millions will be required for greatly increasing the staff of federal agents and for "general broadening out of the whole enforcement division of the government," officials said.

New York alone will require a tremendous increase in enforcement personnel. While the state law has been effective there, a federal force of about 200 has been on duty there. Now with the co-operation of city and state officials in a large measure withdrawn, this force will have to be multiplied many times.

Even with this it was admitted that a strict enforcement in New York is going to be a dubious proposition. About 20,000 enforcement agents counting policement, have been lost to the federal government through the repeal bill, and the federal government cannot hope to thrown an army of that size into the state for replacement.

Kansas City Probes a Mysterious Death

Kansas City, June 4—Police today were seeking to solve the mysterious death of Guy A. Moore, vice-president of the Moore-Lawless Grain Company, whose mutilated body was discovered early yesterday morning on the railroad tracks of the Chicago, St. Paul and Milwaukee railroad, near the bridge over the Missouri River. Authorities were confronted today with a maze of theories, suicide, murder or accident.

Kansas City, June 4—Police this afternoon threw out a dragnet for a tramp in an effort to solve the mystery of yesterday when the mutilated body of Guy A. Moore, prominent grain man, was found along the tracks of the Milwaukee railroad. Following information from residents of the vicinity that they had seen a tramp walking along the track near the spot where Moore's body was found, authorities abandoned the suicide or accident theory and bent their energies towards capturing the hobo. Discovery of blood stains on a piece of a rail tie may strengthen the murder theory. The piece of tie was found near the place where Moore's wrist watch and eleven dollars in money was found. Weeds about this place were trampled down.

An Airplane Spends Sunday in Maryville

Many necks were "craned" yesterday to see the airplane whose buzzing over Maryville was heard many times yesterday. The plane was owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gower of Kansas City, who were passing through and spent yesterday in Maryville. They left this morning. Several persons here took flights yesterday.

Miss Marie Allison of Savannah has entered the State Teachers College for the summer semester, and is at home with Mrs. Fred DeMoss, 222 South Walnut street. Miss Allison taught in the Bolckow public schools last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Johnson were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Saxton.

THE WEATHER

Possibly local thundershowers this afternoon or tonight, somewhat cooler in the north portion tonight; Tuesday partly cloudy.

What One Should Do to Keep Well in Summer

"What one should do to keep well in the summer," says Surgeon General H. S. Cumming, of the U. S. Public Health Service, "depends on what one has been doing during the winter.' As winter occupations are infinitely varied it may seem at first blush that this dictum calls for equally varied summer programs. However, most occupations fall into certain groups which call for corresponding vacations.

"For instance, most men and an increasing number of women work hard all winter and take a vacation when summer comes. On the other hand, large groups of men and women (farmers, for instance) work hard all summer and take a vacation, if they ever get one, in the winter, when farm work is slack. Most women work hard in their own homes, and they too have earned a vacation, though their right to it is not always acknowledged. Some men and women appear not to work at all and would probably be very angry if any one accused them of working. These also need a vacation, but very few of them get a real one.

"A vacation should mean very different things to these different classes. A clerk for instance, should do something that would make him use his muscles (though not to excess) and an iron mill worker something that would enable him to rest his. A girl who has been typewriting or packing cigarettes or cooking in somebody else's home should use her vacation in outdoor sports such as playing tennis or something like that. A tired wife and mother should rest by getting away from husband and children, soothing her nerves by chatting with other women, and having a few moments of genuine privacy. A "society" girl who really works about as hard as anybody in the service of the Goddess of Pleasure and is probably (temporarily, at least) sick of teas and men and other girls, would do well to attend a Summer Normal school, where she would at least get a brand-new outlook on life—unless she has courage enough to get a job in a factory, where, if she was not too haughty some "factory girl" might take pity on her and teach her the ropes.

"The usual prescription for a vacation is exercise in the open air. Such advice assumes that exercise in the open is the one important thing that most workers do not get. This is, of course, true in regard to many persons but it is not true in regard to many others—farmers, street cleaners, and chauffeurs, for instance. Anybody who has been spending his or her winter evenings in stuffy rooms studying, playing cards, dancing or just nodding, should by all means, get out into the open air in the summer. A truck driver, on the other hand, might well spend his vacation indoors.

"Exercise, particularly, in the open air, is valuable and, indeed, essential to continued good health. Exercise, however, looks chiefly to physical and ignores mental health and mental health is now considered to be about as important as physical health.

"Millions of persons, women in particular perhaps, need a "change" rather than a "rest."

"As a matter of fact, nearly everyone feels this and unconsciously strives to act upon it. The 'tired business man' of whom papers say so much is not so foolish as some persons think when he goes to the theater to listen to a farrago of nonsense; for this is the very antithesis of his daily work. Unfortunately going to the theater is like his business, in doors.

"Clerks or working men or girls who attend baseball games show better judgment, for tehy get mental stimulus; and, if they applaud the players or denounce the umpire with enthusiasm they get a good deal of physical exercise in the open air. On the other hand the farmer who works 15 hours a day from early spring to late fall might do worse than spend two winter weeks in the city, fighting off the wily 'confidence' men and attending the movies. And more or less similarly for his wife. They would both get enough mental stimulus to sustain them through the laborious days of next summer.

"The point is to get new ideas for the brain to mull over. All persons, after being tied to one set of ideas (or to no ideas at all) for months, will find themselves a lot healthier and happier if they can pick up a totally different set during their vacation. Whether the ideas are wise or foolish, they can get a lot out of them, particularly if they can find friends who are considerate enough to find a contradictory set and stand up for them. The two will prevent each other from vegetating and keep each other happy (even if furious) till the next vacation. Vegetating is the worst thing in the world for a human being—at any rate for the American species.

"It would be well if all persons would adapt this advice to their own circumstances and would plan vacations for the coming summer that differ radically from their daily occupations. Such vacations probably would not turn out quite as was expected; but that would be half their charm. Some persons might even wish they hadn't tried the plan for a week or so after they got home; but the chances are that the next summer they would try the same or some other 'contrary' plan once more.

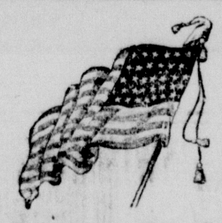
What of America?



Shall This Government Live or Die?

A feeble executive implies a feeble execution of the government; a feeble execution is but another phrase for a bad execution; and a government ill executed, whatever it may be in theory, must be in practice, a bad government.—Alexander Hamilton, "The Federalist," No. LXX.

XLV.

Why the Federal Powers Have Grown and Those of the States Declined.

The leaders of the early Federalist party were men of high patriotism, exceptional ability, and pure character, but it has been said of them that they were terribly afraid lest the country should not be sufficiently governed.

This question of how much government is enough never has been settled to the satisfaction of everybody. It still is debated and probably always will be. We have seen what the Jeffersonian Republicans held on this point and where the Hamiltonian Federalists stood. We now have to trace the results of the successive compromises to which their respective theories have been subjected, and to see where they have led us in practice.

The first thing that must be plain to us on the slightest examination of our political history is that the federal power has steadily grown, while that of the states has greatly declined. If the federal as opposed to the national theory had retained its original force, this condition would be regarded as a great evil. It is doubtless true that local government in theory, is more likely to be under the control of the governed than that which governs them from a distance. But it has been a steadily revealed weakness of the original theory of the state governments that they neglect or refuse to exercise their powers. We know that if a man does not use or exercise his arm it will in time lose its muscular power, and become useless to him. It is so with the functions of government. Broadly, the reason why power has passed from the states, and been assumed by the federal government, is because the states have failed to exercise it, and the people have been forced to turn more and more to the government at Washington.

Now, under our system it is apparent that laws in the states ought to be as nearly as possible uniform, especially laws relating to business and industry. This was recognized in the constitutional convention, and it was provided that congress should have power to enact national bankruptcy laws. If the states were equally alert to the necessities of the public welfare and would pass laws uniform in character, it would not be necessary to have so much national legislation. But their governments are not equal in this respect. Some may provide necessary legislation while others refuse to do so, and this makes for inequality and injustice in an age when the products of industry no longer are confined to the states where they originate, but are transported to markets in all the states.

Let us take an example of an inequality of law resulting from conflicting state legislation. It is clearly within the competency of states to make laws regulating child labor. The necessity of such regulation is recognized. It is demanded by the public welfare. Some of the states have made such regulations, but others have refused to do so, with the result that citizens engaged in the manufacture of articles of interstate commerce in those states that have adopted such regulations are put upon unfair competition with manufacturers in the states that have refused to enact such laws. In effect, the states that enact remedial legislation penalize themselves.

When such conditions arise, and they have been of constant recurrence in the great commercial and industrial development of the present generation, the people have had to seek the relief of national legislation. Every such extension of the federal power necessarily expands the federal machinery of government, and gives occasion for the cry that its functions and cost are becoming burdensome and vexatious. But if that is true, it is so only because local government in the United States has failed in its responsibilities. If the increasing power of the federal government is an evil, if centralization of government in Washington is a danger, then the people of the states have invited them by allowing their local governments to fall into their present condition.

The state legislatures in America have abdicated their functions. With some notable exceptions they no longer enjoy public confidence or prestige. Their members are ill paid, unrepresentative of the best in ability or character in their states and by reason of the influences through which they are chosen are unresponsive to the public's needs. Legislative sessions in the states are too likely to be the battles of the private interests that control votes through lobbies and the political brokers whom we call bosses. Public measures receive little consideration. In most state legislatures, for example, the militia is shamefully neglected. Education is neglected. Unequal tax laws are passed by reason of the political advantage enjoyed by the representatives of special interests. The principle of representation carried to excess and capitalized by political forces produces types of legislators easily controlled by interests that specialize in that business. These interests, unconcerned for the public welfare, labor only for their own ends, and it is those who labor with state legislatures that get what they want from them.

These are the causes, we will find, that have brought about the centralization of government in Washington and its decrepitude in the states. The loss of vigorous and efficient local government to the people must be deplored, but if the trend is in that direction, if government is becoming more and more centralized in Washington, then the safeguard must be to watch the government at Washington and hold it strictly responsible.

The fear of centralization that haunted Jefferson was based on its threat to local government. Local government he thought of as the protector of the people's liberties. But in the evolution of our system it is the federal power that has become the people's protector while their local government, by its breakdown and inefficiency, has become the danger to their liberties. Whatever else a government may be it must be responsible. If the federal power has assumed responsibility where the states have declined it, the people know at least what powers to hold to account.

Some will keep their Youth and Beauty

The bride who starts with old, out-of-date kitchen methods that make work hard and hours long, will probably leave her charm in the kitchen.

But if she starts with modern, time-and labor-saving appliances in her kitchen she will save herself many weary hours and many heartaches. One of the most important needs in any kitchen is a Sellers Kitchen Cabinet.

SELLERS
KITCHEN CABINETS

The wide preference for the Sellers is due not only to its beauty, but to the wealth of labor-saving features, which have been developed by Sellers and which are combined in no other cabinet.

There are for example, the Automatic Lowering Flour Bin; the Automatic Base Shelf Extender; the Sanitary, Acid-Proof, Porceliron Work Table; the Extending Table Drawer Section; the Special Silverware Drawer; Ant-Proof Casters and many others.

The Automatic Base Shelf Extender — brings pots and pans forward as door is opened.

Even with its many conveniences, the Sellers costs no more than any good cabinet. Come and see the late models. We are always happy to demonstrate.

Did Winter leave you with that tired feeling?

WINTER'S confinement, with its lack of pure air and sunshine, shows its effect in Spring. To be underweight, easily tired, listless, and have a poor appetite, indicates a weakened condition of the blood. Nature must have help—your blood is minus fighting strength! More red-cells mean cleaner, purer, richer blood. S. S. S. builds red-blood-cells. It builds blood-power! That is what makes fighting blood. Fighting blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! It builds nerve-power,—thinking power. It builds up run-down, tired men and women, beautifies complexions, and makes the flesh firmer. Stronger and more useful nerves depend on blood-power. S. S. S. will give you that greater endurance, energy and strength!

Mrs. Lizzie Felmet, Crowell, Texas, writes: "I was in a run-down condition—had lost forty-four pounds in weight. Also suffered from pimples and blackheads. My druggist recommended S.S.S. It made me a new woman. I think S.S.S. to be the best medicine on earth."

Try it yourself. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size is more economical. Get a bottle today!

Conception College 4 Years in Agriculture

At Opening Of School Next September College Will Offer New Course

With the opening of school next September, Conception College will offer a Four Year High School Course of Agriculture. The Catholic Tribune of St. Joseph had the following:

The Abbey farm of the Benedictines at Conception has always been an inspiration and uplift to the farmers of Nodaway County. It has now reached that state of development where its influence is o be felt not only in the immediate vicinity, but is extended over the entire Middle West. Today Conception College comes to us as the only Catholic school west of the Mississippi offering a complete course in high school Agriculture.

The Abbey farm, located on a choice elevation, embraces an entire square section of land. A definite, well adapted and systematic plan is being followed in the management of the entire farm. Permanent agriculture is the uppermost consideration in the plan, diversified farming the next. Equal acreage of small grain, corn and red clover are grown each year; the corn-corn-oats-wheat-clover rotation being strictly adhered to. Deep tilage is the general policy.

A dairy of 35 cows, registered and grade Holsteins, is maintained to supply milk and butter to Abbey and College tables. Individual size and high milk production under normal conditions are the two main aims in its management. Skim-milk from the dairy plus corn plus Poland-Chinas mean quickly and cheaply made pork which sells on a good market before the seasonal glut. The Polands are the exclusive inhabitants of the swine division.

Mules are most relied upon for work stock. The horse-barn also shelters a number of registered Percherons.

A small herd of Shropshire sheep is being introduced. With these a great deal of otherwise waste forage will be turned into wool and mutton.

Some 900 White Leghorn hens reign in the poultry yard. Just at this season these, with the 1,000 and more baby chicks, demand the entire attention of the two lay brothers.

Another lay brother has charge of the garden. That the latter is not small in size or production we may know when we realize that at times the garden is the "bread-basket" for the community and students.

The orchards of the farm are extensive; the apple orchard being the largest. The apple crop of 1922 figured up to 2,000 bushels.

This combination of systematic soil program and deversified animal husbandry is indicative of a profitable contructive and permanent system of agriculture.

The Point of Contact

THERE'S a simple catch in the familiar phrase that tells how the world beats a path to the door of the man who makes a better mouse-trap.

The maker of ANYTHING, if he is to win the plaudits of the world, must not only manufacture a superior product, but must also let folks know of his achievements. He must point out just why his mouse-trap, hi sautomobile or his shaving cream is better than his neighbor's. He must ADVERTISE.

Advertising is the point of contact between the man who makes something and the man who wants something. Through an advertisement, a manufacturer can tell you in a few short minutes all you want to know about the article or the service he has to offer.

This newspaper is constantly full of ideas that other men and women have thought out for your personal benefit. Fail to read the advertisements and you remain in ignorance of countless products that would make life easier, happier and more interesting for you and your entire family.

Advertising gives you news of the latest and best things made—with word as to what they will do, what they cost and where to get them. Think of all you miss when you overlook the advertisements.

READ THEM REGULARLY—EVERY DAY.

Here Comes the Bride

Tourists are Rushing to the Ozarks

Resorts are Expecting Greatest Crowd of Vacationists.

Joplin, Mo., June 4—The annual tourist rush into the Ozarks has begun, following the spring preparation of resorts and their openings. Although rainy weather has been somewhat of a handicap to motor car travel, nevertheless the summer vacationists are pouring into the "land of a million smiles," according to reports reaching John F. Potts, active secretary of the Ozark Playgrounds Association.

The most bountiful crop of vacationists since the playgrounds association's organization is forecast, Potts said.

Visitors from Texas, Louisiana and Tennessee are coming into this district in larger numbers than from the North. For years the Ozarks have been a summer Mecca for people of the South, but not until organization of the playgrounds association has the vacation spot been so well patronized.

Several resorts have had formal openings, while some have prepared for the tourist rush in an informal way.

Many To Noel, Mo.

Dan Sayre, while in this city, announced that Ozak Spring Tavern near Noel, Mo., has been receiving guests for the last two weeks, and reservations have been coming in at rapid rate for the last two days. It is upon acreage owned by Mr. Sayre, that the Kansas City permanent Boy Scout camp is located. Preparations are under way for the opening of the camp. The capacity has been enlarged to accommodate approximately 2,500 boys during the summer, and in the near future it will see the advance guard arriving. An innovation in camping privileges has been arranged this season, girl scout organizations being at liberty to use the camp when it is not being used by the boys. June 11 is the date set for use by girl scouts of Kansas City, two hundred girls being scheduled to arrive upon that date for a two week's outing.

Rockaway Beach, near Lake Taneycomo, reports large advance reservations for cottages.

Forsyth, at the mouth of Swan creek, a famous fishing stream has been busily engaged in preparing for the influx of tourists. Oliver Cook of Kansas City, has been the leading spirit in the development of this beautiful resort. Shadowrock family cottages should be taxed to capacity as the season approaches, Potts stated.

Floating Trip To Be Popular

Judging by reports from Galena and Reeds Springs, the delightful James and White River floting trip—a trip which consumes ten days and one hundred and ten miles of water travel—down the most picturesque part of these streams, will hace more patronage than ever this season.

Rogers, Ark., with the quaint tavern on Monte Ne at its gates, reports much tourist travel and many reservations, and with the closeness of such excellent fishing streams as the White and War Eagle rivers, this section of the Ozarks will be filled to overflowing by vacationists, it is expected. At Bentonville, Ark., two popular Ozark hotels are now open, the Massey and the Park Springs, and each week finds them being gradually taxed to their capacity in the handling of guests.

At Siloam Springs, summer tourists are commencing to arrive from Texas.

Shows Surprising Increase Abroad

Detroit, Mich., June 4—Everywhere abroad there is an increasing demand for products of the Ford Motor Company and it includes the whole Ford Line, Cars, Trucks and Fordson Tractors.

During the first four months of the year foreign sales of Ford Cars and trucks reached a total of 76,142. This is 34,883 more than were sold in the same period a year ago.

In the same months, Fordson Tractor sales mounted to 4,534, more than twice those of last year when 1,894 Fordsons were sold in foreign markets.

An outstanding feature is the remarkable demand for Ford Products in the Scandanavian countries. All through Denmark, Norway and Sweden sales are showing an unprecedented increase and motor transportation in these countries is making greater strides forward than ever before.

In Belgium too, there is an unusual demand for Fords. The Picturesque Belgium horse and cart is rapidly giving way to the Ford one-ton truck, for commercial and agricultural interests in Belgium now are keenly awake to the advantages and economy of this means of transportation and are turning to it in surprisingly increasing numbers.

SHRINERS SWARM INTO WASHINGTON

NATIONAL CONVENTION OPENS AT CAPITAL TOMORROW

300,000 ARE EXPECTED

President Harding Will Review Gigantic Parade Tomorrow—Washington's Tomb Is Decorated

Washington, June 4—Railroads and motor caravans poured Shriners into the national capital today by the thousands. Historic Pennsylvania Avenue, down which have passed memorable parades of American history from the Capital to the White House, presented an endless stream of bobbing red fezes, flaring bands and singing Shriners from the sixty-one special trains that arrived during the day.

Fifty thousand visitors reached Washington in time to spend the week end, but today saw the great move into the Capital, which will be climaxed tomorrow. It is estimated that 300,000 Shriners and their friends will fill the city during the convention.

The convention will formally open tomorrow for a 3-day program of exercises and entertainment. Washington has been turned into one gigantic carnival city for the week. While the main body of the Shriners were arriving today thousands journeyed to Mount Vernon where officials of the Shrine placed a wreath upon Washington's tomb. Tomorrow, the opening day, Pennsylvania Avenue will witness its greatest parade when more than 300,000 Shriners will participate in a gigantic march from the Capital to the White House where President Harding will review it.

Potato Bugs Can Be Killed by Spraying

R. A. Kinnaird, county farm agent, is receiving a number of inquiries for a spraying compound to kill potato bugs. For a liquid spray, Kinnaird recommends three tablespoons of arsenate of lead in one gallon of water. If a dust spray is used, two different formulas are recommended. One pound of arsenate of lead to eight pounds of lime. This spray should be applied when the vines are moist with dew. The second formula recommended by Kinnaird is to mix fifteen pounds of lime, one pound of arsenate of lead and one-half pound of Paris green.

This formula is also recommended for melon beetles. The melon vines should be dusted on the hills.

However, the best thing to kill melon beetles, according to Kinnaird, is to use the new preparation known as "nico-dust." This will not only kill for melon beetles. The melon vines as well, Kinnaird says. This chemical compound should be applied with a small dust gun by placing a funnel over the hill and blow the dust down through the funnel.

RUSSIAN FLAYS AMERICAN PUBLIC

"AMERICA BE DAMNED" ATTITUDE OF SOVIET OFFICIAL

AMERICANS BIG-HEADED

He Charges and Declares Germany Will Not Move Without U. S. Consent and Approval

(Copyright 1923)
International News Service.

Berlin, June 4. — "The American public be damned," was the attitude taken today by Carl Rabek, Soviet Russia's chief propagandist, who is now in Germany keeping a nimble finger upon the pulse of the collapsing empire.

Rabek's standing with the Moscow government is shown by the fact that he will probably succeed Krestensky as Russian ambassador to Germany. Rabek is noted for his bluntness of statements. He is one diplomat with whom the correspondents can speak frankly.

"Why did the Soviet government execute Archbishop Butkiewichz and horrify the American people just at the moment America began to show a sympathetic attitude towards Russia?" the correspondent asked. Rabek replied:

"The American people," responded the Russian official, "are suffering from Megalomanynia, they are suffering from a swollen head, they think the sun should rise and set at their bidding. The American public has been spoiled by Germany. The German government dares to do or say nothing without previously ascertaining if it pleases the American government and people.

"Soviet Russia does not give a damn what America thinks of Russia. It orders that which it believes necessary or expedient for the success of domestic policies."

Hopkins Defeats New Market Team 6 to 3

Dixon, Pitching for Hopkins, Struck Out Eleven Men—Several Spectacular Plays Made.

The Hopkins baseball team defeated the New Market nine at Hopkins yesterday by a score of 6 to 3. At the end of the seventh inning, the game was 4 to 0 in favor of Hopkins. Early in the eighth inning, two hits together with an error on the part of Hopkins, gave New Market three runs.

The game was fast throughout and was played in one hour and thirty minutes. Several spectacular plays were made. Dixon, the Hopkins hurler, struck out eleven men, while Smith, the New Market pitcher, struck out four.

The batteries for Hopkins were Dixon and Carmichael; for New Market, Smith and Boyer. A big crowd was present at the game. Next Sunday, Hopkins will play Lenox, Ia., at Hopkins.

RebeKahs Sponsor Picture at Empire

Anita Stewart is featured in "The Woman He Married," a First National Picture being shown at the Empire Theatre tonight an tomorrow night under the auspices of the members of the Alert Rebekah Lodge.

Adapted from the play by Herbert Bashford, "The Woman He Married" tells the story of an artist's model whose marriage to a millionaire's son brings down upon the pair the wrath of the irate father. Untrained for the commercial world, the boy finds it impossible to support his wife, but she sticks to him loyally, determined to win his father's respect and to shame him for cutting off the son he had never taught to work.

Complications set in, and when the smoke clears away the girl stands accused of murder with circumstantion evidence strongly against her. In the scene that fairly pops with excitement and surprises, the mystery is cleared up, the girl vindicated and the wealthy father, now fully convinced that his new daughter is worthy of the family name, abjectly apologizes on bended knee.

Fred Nibo, who made "The Tree Musketeers," directed "The Woman He Married."

Holt Company Leads Field in Sales

The J. E. Holt Electrical Company has sold more Delco lighting systems than any other agency in Missouri and Kansas. Fifty-one plants have been sold by the Holt firm since the middle of February. These were placed in homes in Nodaway, Atchison and Holt Counties.

The Delco Company offered a prize to the agent selling the most plants in April and May. Enough were sold by the Holt agency in April to win the prize. The award is a choice between a 17 jewell watch, breakfast set, traveling bag or floor lamp.

The salesman rating is determined in terms of watts. Every $25 of business done by an agent entitles him to one watt. When he has sold 500 watts of business, he is known as a star salesman, and 1000 watts entitles him to the title of a "Killowatter." The Holt firm is now past the 900 watt mark. Lewis White and Newt Hagins of Maryville are assisting Jack Holt in selling the Delco systems.
